What we do

At Rebtor, we offer strategic trucking and asset management solutions designed to simplify logistics and maximize returns for truck owners, clients, and partners. Our services include:

Haulage

Efficient haulage of materials with real-time monitoring and timely delivery to construction sites.

Management

We manage trucks end-to-end for owners, ensuring transparency, profit, and stress-free operations.

Investment

Enabling individuals to co-own trucks while we handle operations, profits, and reporting.

Solutions

Tailored logistics services for contractors and clients with flexible and dependable support.

Haulage

You request. We deliver.

At Rebtor, we specialize in the haulage of bulk construction materials such as sand, gravel, and laterite for infrastructure development and industrial projects. Our operations begin the moment a client places a request. We promptly deploy trucks from our own fleet, each managed under strict oversight by assigned field supervisors who ensure proper loading, secure transit, and professional delivery conduct.

Every trip is tracked in real-time using digital tools, giving clients full visibility over their cargo and peace of mind. With Rebtor, cargo owners benefit from dependable delivery schedules, reduced delays, and a seamless logistics experience designed to keep their projects running on time and within budget.

Management

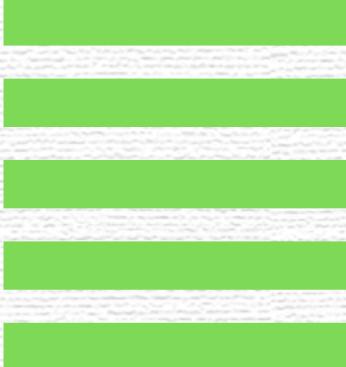

Your truck. Our expertise. Shared success.

How it works

Rebtor offers a trusted truck management service designed for busy owners, investors, and partners who want steady returns without daily involvement. Whether you own a single dump truck or a growing fleet, we take full operational responsibility—assigning your truck to jobs, managing drivers, handling maintenance schedules, fueling, documentation, and supervising daily activity. Every asset under our care is monitored through our field teams and digital tracking systems to ensure maximum uptime, safety, and productivity. We provide regular performance reports and transparent earnings updates, allowing you to track the growth of your asset while we handle the complexities. Our approach ensures your truck works for you—efficiently, profitably, and sustainably.

Rebtor Fleet Circle™

Group-powered truck ownership. Expertly managed.

Rebtor offers a collaborative truck investment model where individuals come together to co-own dump trucks. We group vetted investors, acquire trucks on their behalf, and register each vehicle in the group's or co-owners' names—giving them full joint ownership and control.

While the ownership stays with the investors, Rebtor takes charge of operations: managing drivers, assigning trips, maintaining the trucks, handling fueling and documentation, and supervising daily use. We also provide real-time reporting and disburse weekly or monthly profits to each member based on their contribution.

This model empowers investors to earn passively, retain ownership rights, and benefit from Rebtor's trusted logistics infrastructure—without needing to manage the truck themselves.

Solutions

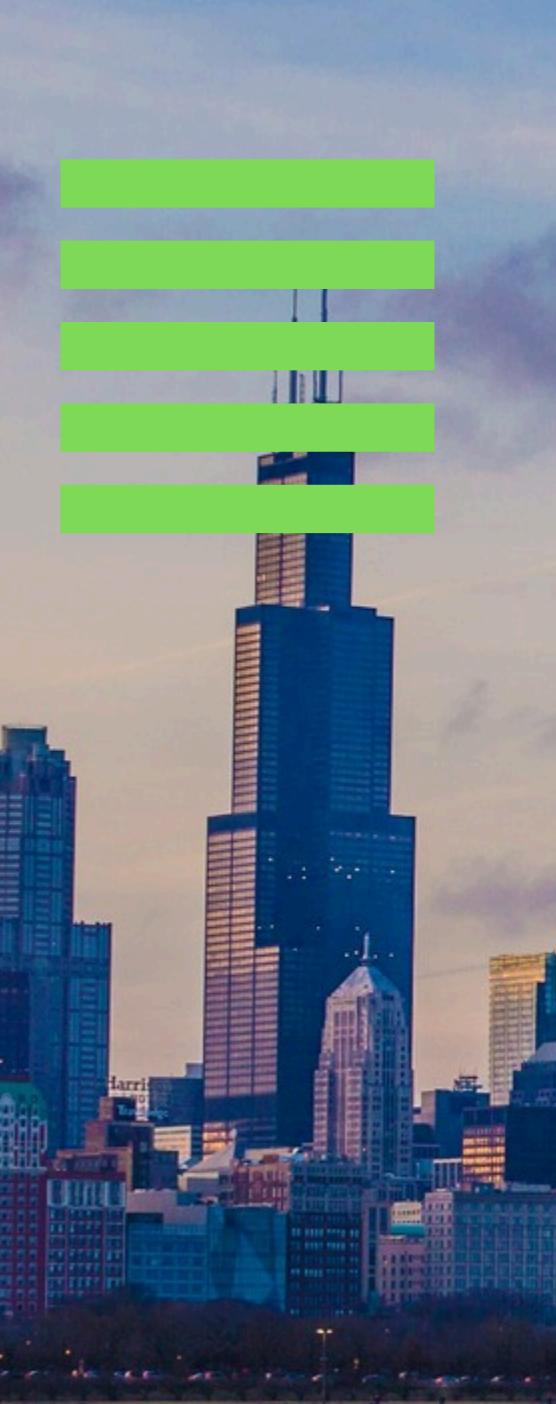

You face a logistics challenge. We create a plan.

At Rebtor, we go beyond trucks — we build systems. Our tech-enabled operations, trained supervisors, and proven logistics processes ensure transparency, timely reporting, and reduced downtime. Whether it's route optimization, maintenance alerts, driver oversight, or performance tracking, our solutions guarantee peace of mind for owners, partners, and clients alike.

How it works

Our Edge

Rebtor stands out by combining asset ownership with expert logistics execution. We don't just manage — we own and operate our own trucks, giving us firsthand insight into what works.

What makes us unique:

- We invest alongside our clients — not just managers, but stakeholders.
- Full visibility and reporting — real-time tracking, regular returns, and decision-making access for investor groups.
- Hands-on supervision — our ground supervisors ensure disciplined, profitable daily operations.
- Crowd-powered truck acquisition — allowing individuals to co-own income-generating assets transparently.

At Rebtor, our business is built on trust, technology, and tactical execution — giving partners the confidence to grow with us.
